"It hadn't ever occurred to them that a nation could be so situated that every man could have a say in the government.....You see my kind of loyalty was loyalty to one's country, not to its institutions or its officeholders. The country is the real thing, the substantial thing, the eternal thing, it is the thing to watch over, and care for, and be loyal to; institutions are extraneous, they are its mere clothing, and clothing can wear out, become ragged, cease to be comfortable, cease to protect the body from winter, disease and death. To be loyal to rags, to shout for rags, to worship rags, to die for rags – that is loyalty of unreason, it is pure animal; it belongs to monarchy, was invented by monarchy; let monarchy keep it. I was from Connecticut, whose Constitution declares "that all political power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority and instituted for their benefit; and that they have at all times an undeniable and indefeasible right to alter their form of government in such a manner as they may think expedient"

1. Quetzalcoatl and the Pentagram of Sacrifice

The Aztecs believed that the Roman Catholic Conquistador who caused the fall of their empire, General Cortes, represented the return of the winged serpent 'Quetzalcoatl'.

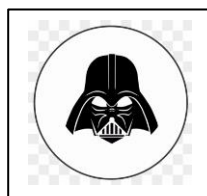

In the womb of Quetzalcoatl resides an astronaut.

Walt Disney presenting the layout on the Greater Earth of four complexes adjoining our crater with our bio-sphere crater at the top.

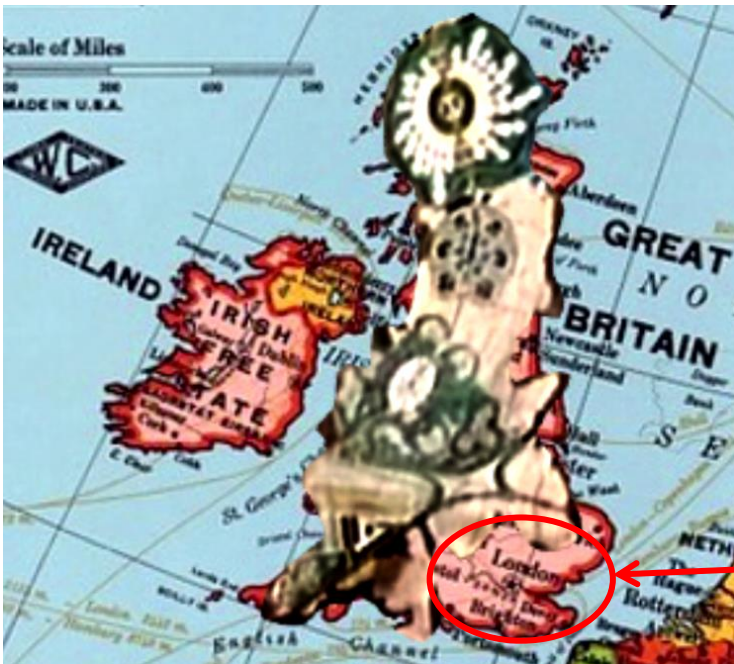

The four complexes can be perceived as four segments of the winged serpent Quetzalcoatl, with the image of man being devoured representing our realm and Quetzalcoatl symbolising YHWH – Jehovah – Jah - the A.I. god.

Promotional video 'Jupiter Moon and the Annunaki Conquest of the Americas part 1', features the high priest of the Berlin Olympic opening ceremony Adolf Hitler posing as the aged Italian Priest Father Krespi. Residing in the Andes mountains of Ecuador and the 'Caves of Tayos', he is caretaker to a store of ancient artefacts some of which originating in Babylonia.

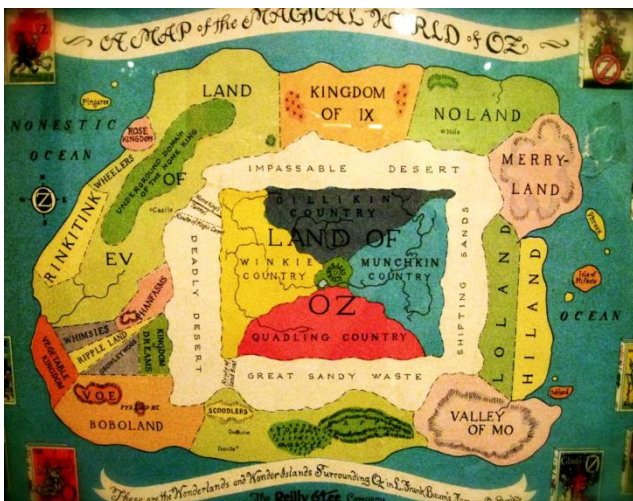

This episode of 'Jupiter Moon' also features the rescue by NASA during 2010 of 33 Chilean miners trapped underground for 69 days and a whistle blower declaring that there were more than 33 miners originally trapped, the others having met their fate as food to 'Vril' – subterranean lizards.

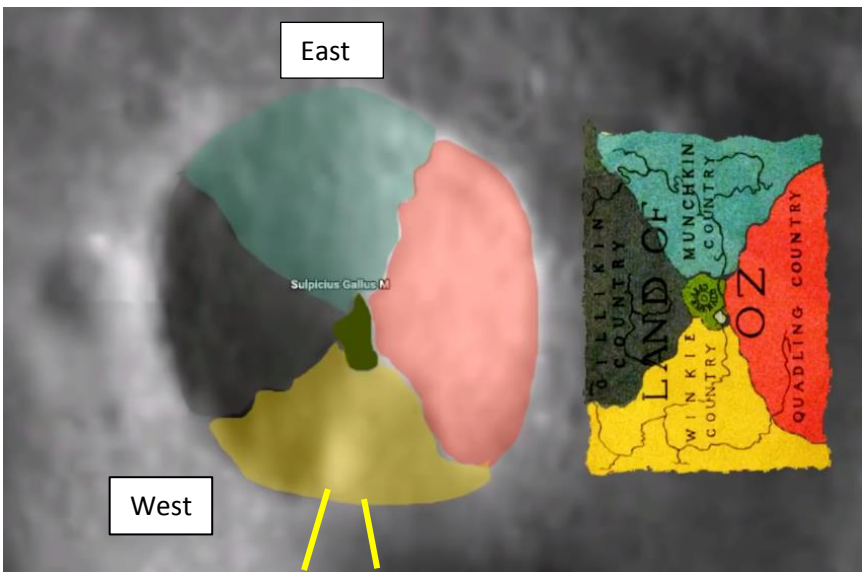

NASA providing a purpose built hoisted rescue cage named 'Phoenix' of diameter 66 cm.

The film 'The Wizard of Oz' features the Emerald City, the Emerald City representing the 'first' Jerusalem and centre of our crater bio-sphere.

Rotating the map of the 'Magical World of Oz' by 90° to suit all 'Mappa Mundi' maps that are orientated with East at the top and transplanting it onto an image of our crater, provides a good fit with the Emerald City in the centre as Jerusalem.

Extending from the west are two passages connecting to 'The Underground Domain of The Nome King'

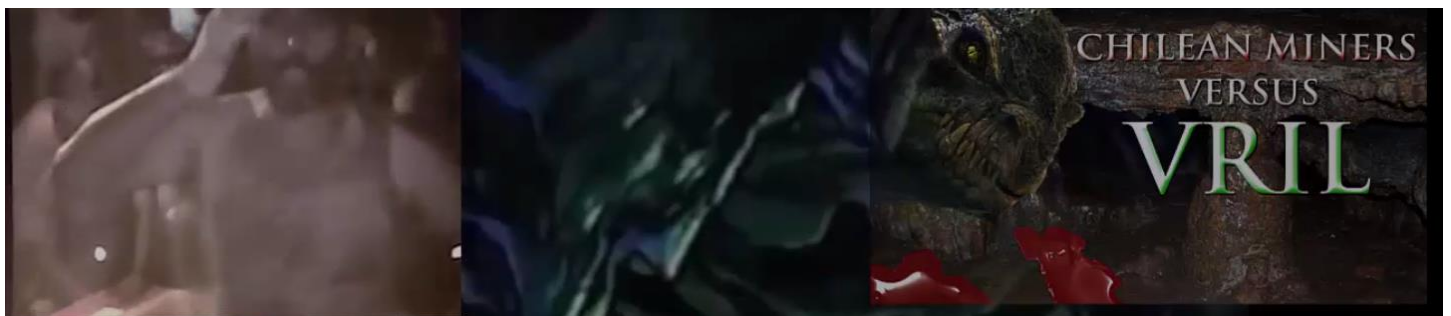

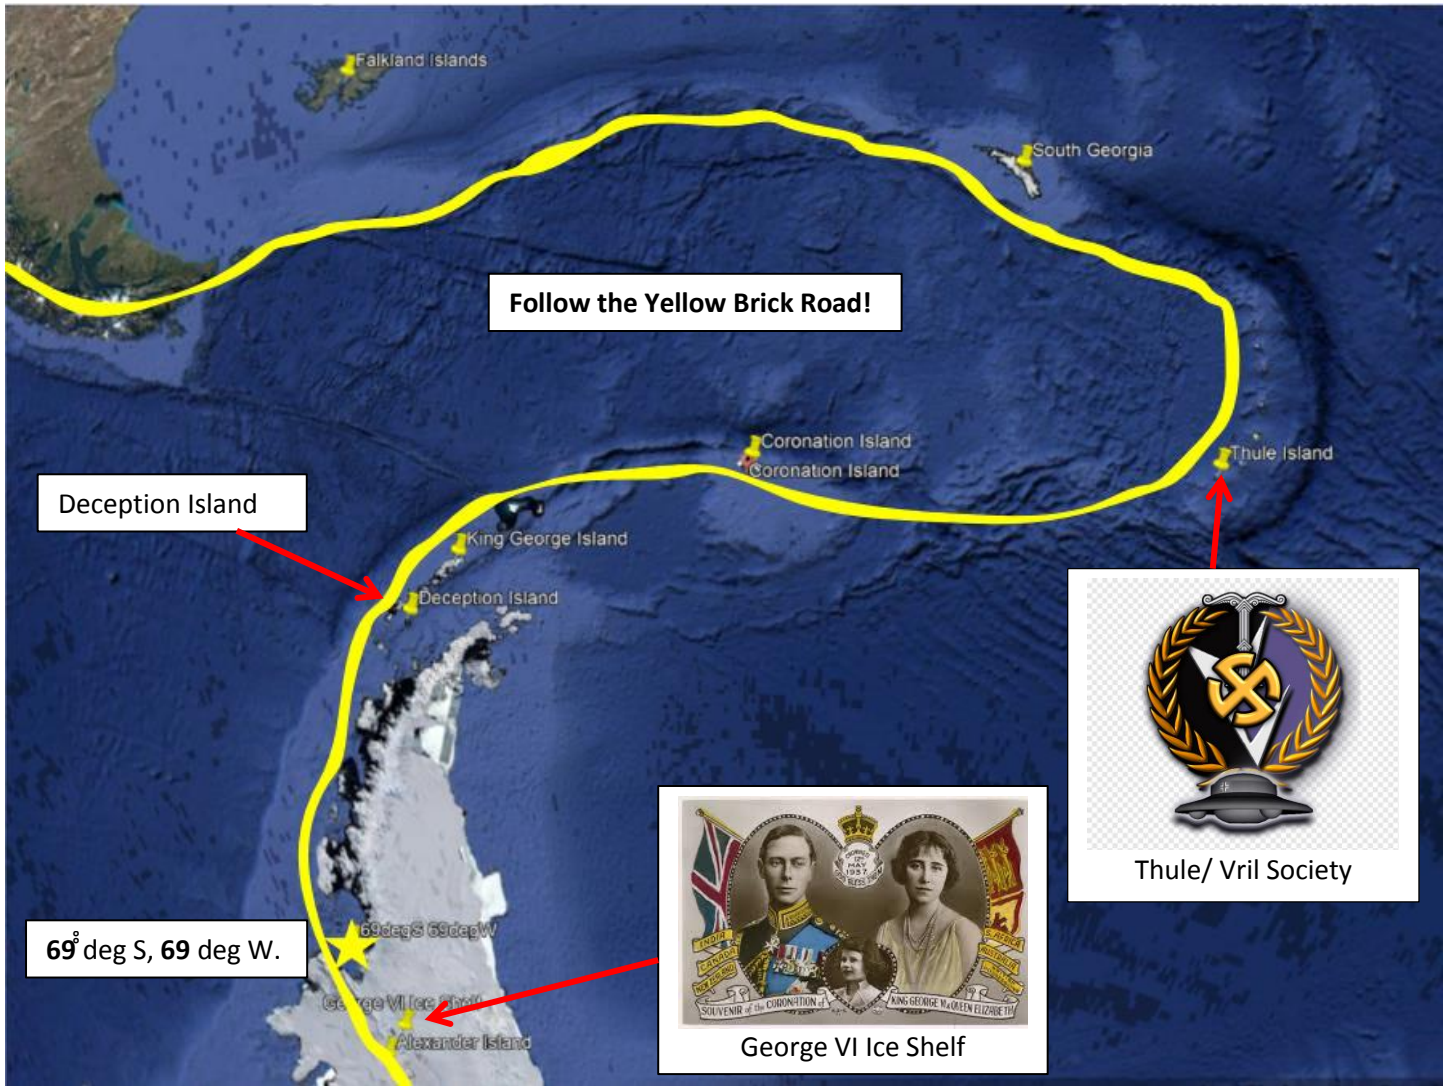

Here is a gathering of the 'Plus Ultra Society' presenting planning of an adjoining complex to our crater accessed by two paths of same location as that providing access to Oz's underground domain. The route of the magic carpet line could be that of a high tech subterranean mono rail.

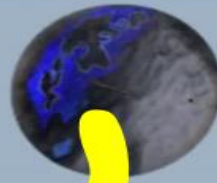

As Dorothy and Toto begin their journey to the Emerald City, the curving yellow brick road could be a subterranean link from the south of Chile to Antarctica.

There were 135 Space Shuttle missions from 1981 to 2011. Were they exchanging components for construction of a subterranean mono-rail?

3. The Fall of Man's Consciousness , Covid-19 Impregnated Hearing Aids, Graphene Oxide Inoculation & Social Distancing's Killer Drones

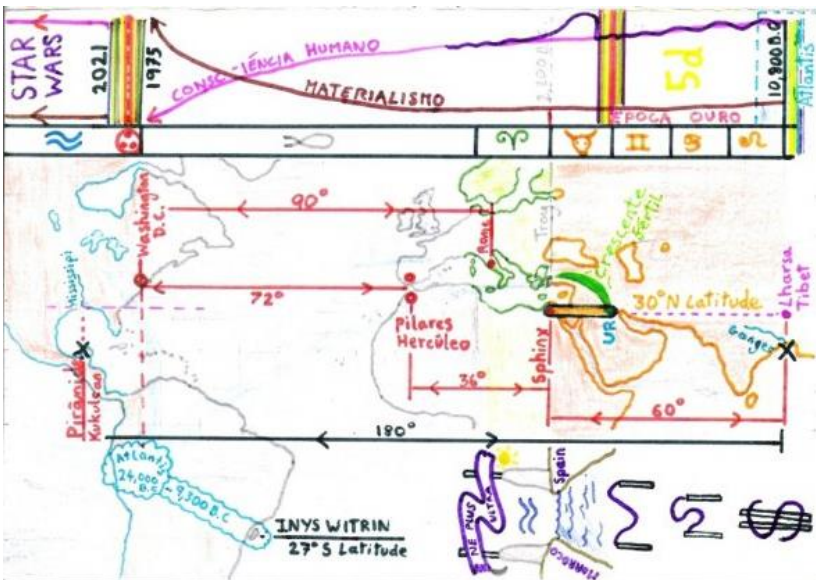

The Milky Way – called Mayu - was a central object in Inca astronomy and was regarded as a celestial counterpart of the Vilcanota river. The identification was so deep that the water flowing on the earth was thought of as the same water flowing in the celestial river and coming back to the earth in the rainy season.

Situated between the constellations Scorpio and Sagittarius, the Galactic Centre of the Milky Way has been falling in the night sky since the age of Leo.

The 53deg N latitude of Glastonbury, England balanced the Galactic Centre with the same angle of elevation to the Pole Star in about 10,800 BC – the highest point (zenith) reached.

Today the Galactic Centre and Pole Star are balanced at 30deg N latitude and the Giza Plateau, Egypt.

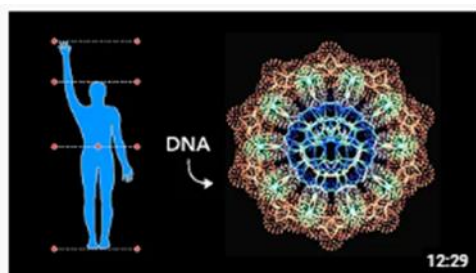

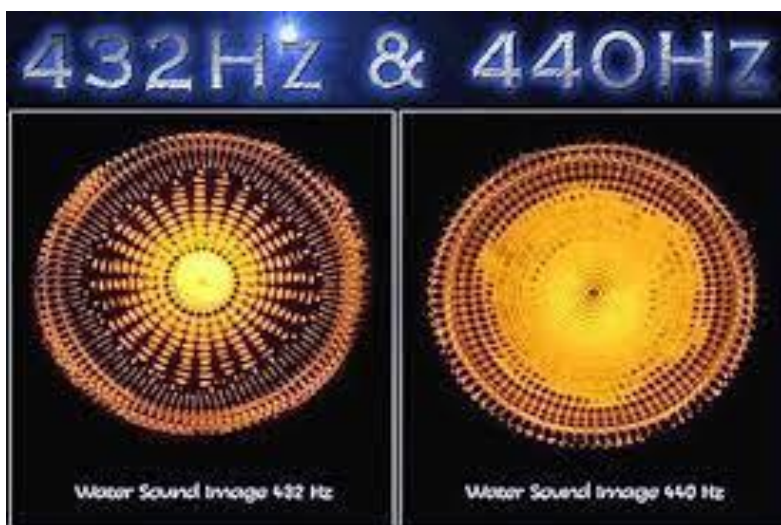

The spiritual consciousness of man has been falling in unison, but is set to reverse as the Galactic Centre commences to climb again as we enter the age of Aquarius.

However, if musical performances were to sound the same the world over, some standardization was required. As early as 1885, the Music Commission of the Italian Government declared that all instruments and orchestras should use a tuning fork that vibrated at 440 Hz, which was different from the original standard of 435 Hz and the competing 432 Hz used in France. In 1917, the American Federation of Musicians endorsed the Italians, followed by a further push for 440 Hz in the 1940s.

In 1953, a worldwide agreement was signed. Signatories declared that middle "A" on the piano be forevermore tuned to exactly 440 Hz. This frequency became the standard ISO-16 reference for tuning all musical instruments based on the chromatic scale, the one most often used for music in the West. All the other notes are tuned in standard mathematical ratios leading to and from 440 Hz.

432 Hz is known as the natural tuning of the universe and is a cosmic number related to sacred geometry that provides relaxation. It extends its roots in musical theory, science and architecture. Meditating with the healing power of 432 Hz music can help gain greater insights to mental and emotional clarity

Consciousness is a frequency and 432 Hz is in harmony with human DNA and natural evolution.

The fall of man's consciousness was accelerated further by adding fluoride to both toothpaste and water supply – calcifying the pineal gland.

A tough barrier against tooth decay

It's a well known fact that tooth decay is on the increase in Kenya. Kids eat far too many sweets and sugary things, so their teeth need Colgate's extra protection. Regular brushing with Colgate plus MFP Fluoride actually strengthens tooth enamel and forms a tough barrier against tooth decay. That barrier is the Colgate ring of confidence. Regular brushing with Colgate helps prevent bad breath too...and children really love the taste.

Throughout the Covid-19 pandemic year of 2020-21, Classic FM Radio continually aired advertisements selling Bluetooth hearing aids for both Specsavers and Boots Pharmacy. A hard sell campaign that often resulted in the rival providers having their high tech products advertised within a few minutes of each other.

Advertising exists to sell products that people don't need, the number of Covid-19 cases recorded in care homes could be related to distribution of the latest hearing aid tech – Coronavirus cells released via circuit board lacquer coating.

For example, on the morning of 22nd March 2021 at 8.40 am, a Classic FM advertising break featured the following:-

1. Importance of wearing face coverings to prevent the spread of Covid-19.
2. Boots hearing aids and how small they are and the monthly payments are.
3. Census day and how important it is to fill in a form for the board of national statistics.

What is graphene?

Stronger than steel, thinner than paper, graphene could be the future of tech

By Will Nicol
October 31, 2019

The simplest way to describe graphene is that it is a single, thin layer of graphite — the soft, flaky material used in pencil lead. Graphite is an allotrope of the element carbon, meaning it possesses the same atoms but they're arranged in a different way, giving the material different properties. For example, both diamond and graphite are forms of carbon, yet they have wildly different natures. Diamonds are incredibly strong, while graphite is brittle. Graphene's atoms are arranged in a hexagonal arrangement.

Alex LMX / Shutterstock

Interestingly, when graphene is isolated from graphite it takes on some miraculous properties. It is a mere one-atom thick, the first two-dimensional material ever discovered. Despite this, graphene is also one of the strongest materials in the known universe. With a tensile strength of 130 GPa (gigapascals), it is more than 100 times stronger than steel.

Graphene's incredible strength despite being so thin is already enough to make it amazing, however, its unique properties do not end there. It is also flexible, transparent, highly conductive, and seemingly impermeable to most gases and liquids. It almost seems as though there is no area in which graphene does not excel.

Rare magnetism found in the world's strongest material

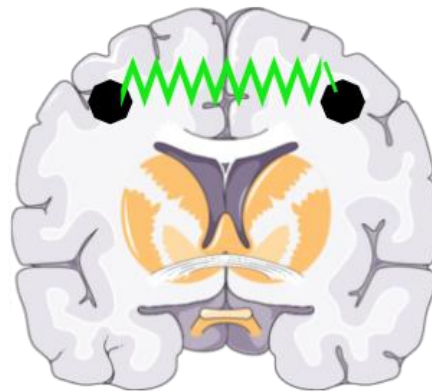

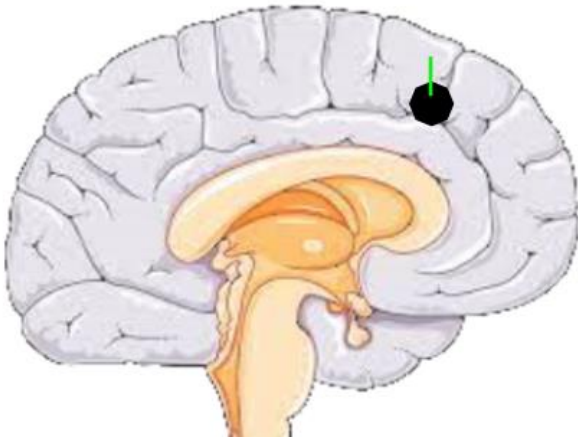

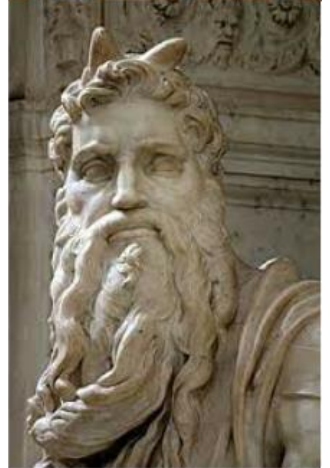

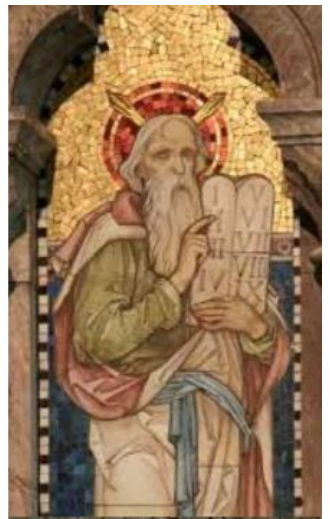

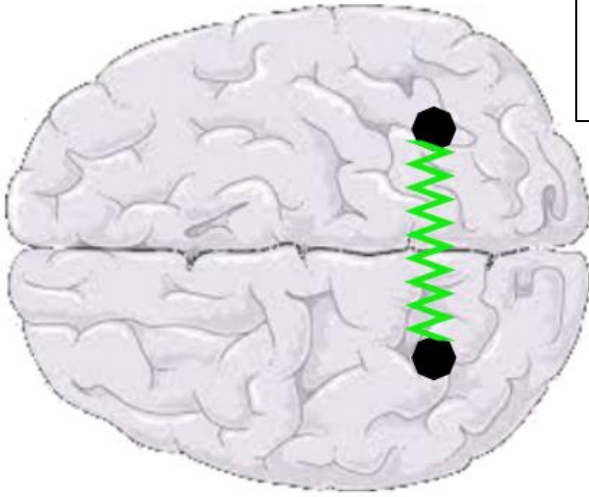

By Stephanie Pappas October 14, 2020

Strange things happen when you stack and twist graphene.

Graphene, one of the world's strongest materials, isn't normally magnetic. But when stacked and twisted, graphene develops a rare form of magnetism, new research finds.

The magnetic field isn't created by the usual spin of electrons within the individual graphene layers, but instead arises from the collective swirling of electrons in all of the three-layers of the stacked graphene structure.

This image is of a nano-structured lipid capsid found in the Pfizer vaccine, containing a genetically modified organism (GMO) and also graphene oxide. It is tied to a specifically intelligent RNA molecule tissue from which it has been cultured and the intent is to drive the package of graphene oxide into a specific organ which could be the brain, reproductive organs, liver etc. It has also been coated in Polyethylene Glycol as a protectorate (similar to anti-freeze). A leaked internal memo received by Dr Robert Young (source of this material) from Pfizer revealed radioactive isotope tracing showing 70% of the vaccine mRNA material is being targeted to the ovaries and testes.

4. The Great Heresy and a Huge Harvest of Souls

"He who controls the past controls the future; he who controls the present controls the past" - George Orwell 1984

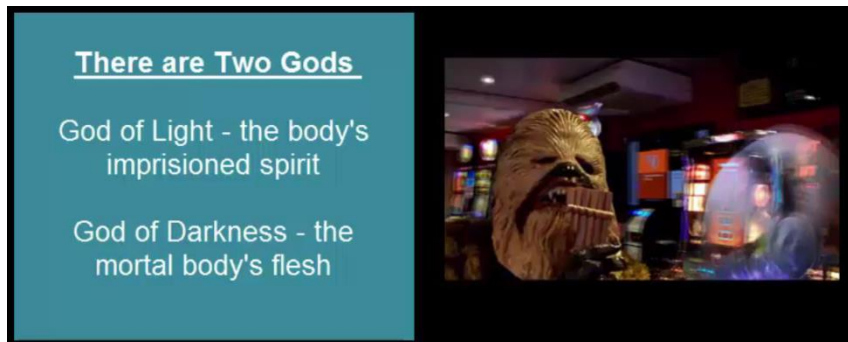

A people or a class which is cut off from its own past is far less free to choose and to act as a people or class than one that has been able to situate itself in history. That is why the entire art of the past is a political issue.

Unearthing SRO's and the treasure of the Knights Templar could bring with it an awakening of the belief system followed by those that did the burying.

Thirteenth century southern France gave home to the Templars' allies the Cathari and their principal dualist doctrine – Belief in two gods - God of Light and God of Darkness – at war within everyone of us. Their struggle = the struggle of flesh against spirit. God of Darkness = God of the body, a messy mortal package of unruly appetites and unholy desires. God of Light = God of the body's imprisoned spirit, a spark of divinity buried in the corrupting meat. Similar to Buddhists, Cathari were allies to the God of Light.

Pope Innocent III initiated the Albigensian Crusade (1209-1229) and by the middle of the 14th century, any discernible traces of the Cathari movement had been eradicated.

We all have a "pineal gland" located near the "center" of our brains. Pine cone shaped (hence its name), the pineal gland was once considered a "vestigial remnant" of a larger organ—the Third Eye. The pineal gland is the only midline brain structure that is unpaired (azygous), tucked in a groove where the two halves of the thalamus join. Sitting thus precisely between the two hemispheres (behind the "third" ventricle) it personifies the abstract occult concept that we find our center by balancing duality. René Descartes believed the pineal gland to be the "principal seat of the soul" and viewed it as the Third Eye. Descartes attached significance to the gland because he believed it to be the only section of the brain to exist as a single part rather than one-half of a pair.

Prior to the first council of Nicaea the Christian cult in the Roman Empire had had a rival in the shape of Mithraism and the bull slaying ritual of Tauroctony performed in subterranean temples.

A mithraeum found in the ruins of Ostia Antica, Italy.

Tauroctony reliefs consistently show the hero Mithras, of Persian origin born from a rock 25th December, having his right foot on the constellation Scorpio and left knee on the back of a bull, representing Taurus, as he slays the beast with his sword plunged into the bulls shoulder.

The Mithraeum Temple home to a 'Leontocephaline' – a lion headed naked man entwined by a serpent.

Occultist, D. Jason Cooper, speculates that the lion-headed figure is not a god, but represents the spiritual state achieved in Mithraism's "adept" level, the Leo (lion) degree as the bulls blood washes the souls of the deceased.

The historian Jacob Burckhardt writes:

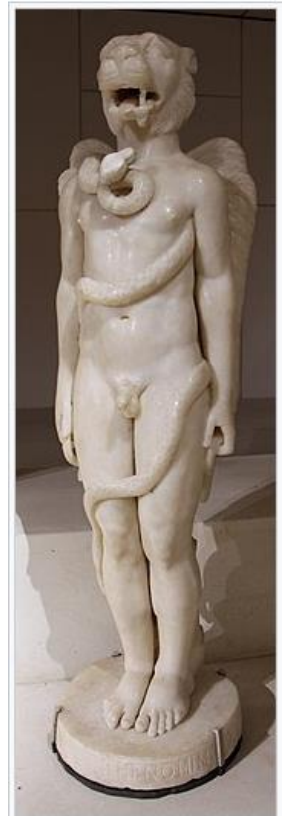

Mithras is the guide of souls which he leads from the earthly life into which they had fallen back up to the light from which they issued.

6. Akhenaten; Tutankhamun; the Rothschild Carnavon Affair; Halie Selassie and the Obamas of Washington D.C.

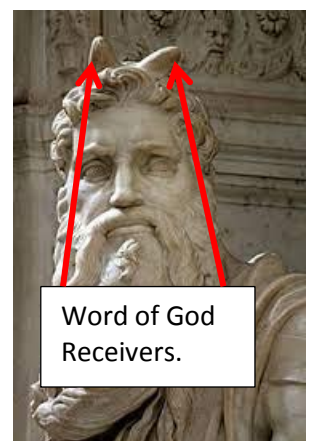

The androgynous 18th dynasty Pharaoh Akhenaten

Storyline being the biblical exodus was an Egyptian military expedition to the east lead by Pharaoh Akhenaten. Destination for the Ark capstone and Holy Grail cauldron being Mount Moriah in Jerusalem - a huge slab of rock that was once central to a space port.

Rosslyn chapels' carving of Moses (left) for many centuries was a unique depiction of Moses having horns. The Mandela Effect has recently changed Michelangelo's statue – adding a pair of horns to a character who may have been Pharaoh Akhenaten's Jewish secretary.

Word of God Receivers.

Tutankhamun restoring Egypt's traditional polytheist cult of Amun which his monotheist father Akhenaten had replaced with the solar deity Aten. According to the 'Restoration Stele' his father's reforms left the country in a bad state – the traditional gods having abandoned Egypt to chaos.

Tutankhamun's mummification was unique as the heart had been removed and the mummy was carbonized through the use of linseed oil causing a delayed spontaneous combustion. Belief being that Tut's death was a sacrificial offering to the underworld, intention being he protects the god Set in an attempt to prevent a further decline into chaos on the terrestrial plane.

Ra was the solar deity, bringer of light, and upholder of Ma'at the sky god. Apep the serpent was viewed as the greatest enemy of Ra, and given the title "the Lord of Chaos". This papyrus shows Set accompanying Ra on the solar barge (technological underworld) to defeat Apep – restoring order to the terrestrial plane and insuring the Sun an orderly transit across the sky. Tutankhamun also accompanied by the vulture deity Nekhbet perhaps to assist in the battle against Apep. The Mexican flag similarly showing an eagle killing a snake.

The 18th Dynasty of Egypt ended with General Horemheb. He ruled for 14 years somewhere between 1319 BC and 1292 BC. He had no relation to the preceding royal family other than by marriage to Mutnedjmet, who is thought (though disputed) to have been the daughter of his predecessor Ay; he is believed to have been of common birth. Before he became pharaoh, Horemheb was the commander in chief of the army under the reigns of Tutankhamun and Ay.

Horemheb demolished monuments of Akhenaten, reusing the rubble in his own building projects, and usurped monuments of Tutankhamun and Ay. Horemheb presumably had no surviving sons, as he appointed his vizier Paramesse as his successor, who would assume the throne as Ramesses I and commence the 19th Dynasty.

The 19th and 20th Dynasty - an era known as the Ramesside period coincided with a descent into a darker age known as the 'The Late Bronze Age Collapse'. Within a period of forty to fifty years from the end of the thirteenth century BC almost every significant city in the eastern Mediterranean world was destroyed, many of them never to be occupied again. A cultural descent moving from west to east that had begun with Akhenaten's military expedition.

A seal of immortality being broken as Howard Carter entered Tutankhamun's tomb, similar story being told in George Lucas's 'The Empire Strikes Back' as Millennium Falcon pilot Han Solo is encased in carbonite.

DISCOVERY: Howard Carter with Tut's sarcophagus [GETTY]

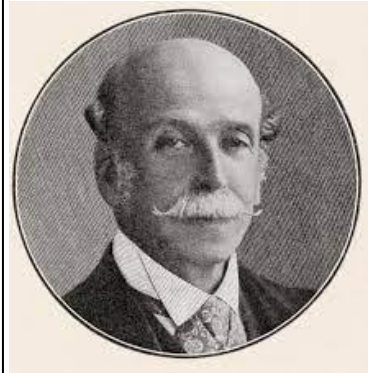

Lord Carnarvon and Howard Carter originally entered Tut's tomb from an adjoining tomb (tombs in Valley of the Kings are interconnected). Eight to ten years later in 1922 they then make announcement as to discovery and a deal is signed with The Times newspaper for exclusive coverage

Howard Carter having prepared audience by setting up a faked previous looting. The staged opening of the tomb in front of the media lacking the original golden lid of the sarcophagus, Carter having replaced it with one of granite.

Lord Carnarvon and wife Almina

Lord Carnarvon's wife Almina Wombwell was an illegitimate daughter to banker Alfred de Rothschild, Almina's wealth funded the Tutankhamun expedition. Certain papyrus records and other items were removed from the tomb and hidden from public viewing, as their existence would contradict the biblical Exodus and claims for a Jewish state of Israel. Lord Carnarvon a weak link in the plot and assassinated in a Cairo hotel – Almina immediately re-marrying a British army officer.

Rome's influence in Ethiopia's affairs starved the nation into Live Aid in 1984. Their flag now containing the 'Pentacle of Sacrifice' but officially it has this meaning: - 'In the middle of the flag, the blue ground within the circle embraces peace and democracy, the five-pointed star symbolizes all ethnic groups, sexes, and beliefs in the country, while the five equal-length beam is an indicator of Ethiopia's bright future.' But in November 2020 prime minister 'Abiy Ahmed' launched a civil war in the north of the country and one year later the 'United Nations' are making the mass blood sacrifice news headlines.

There is media speculation comparing Barack Obama to Pharaoh Akhenaten. His campaign logo could have been derived from the solar disk of Aten and/ or the rings of Saturn.

They are one of three invisible creatures in Islamic tradition, besides the noble angels and jinn, often thought of as ugly and grotesque creatures created from hell-fire.

November 2021, Obama follows Joe Biden’s contribution to the United Nations Glasgow conference on climate change by picking a fight with Russia and China.

“It doesn’t matter if you’re a Republican or a Democrat if your Florida house is flooded by rising seas, or your crops fail in the Dakotas, or your California house is burning. Nature, physics, science – they don’t care about party affiliation,” Obama said. “We need everybody – even if we disagree on other things.”

Ugandan climate activist Vanessa Nakate wrote Monday on Twitter that she was 13 when Obama was part of rich nations who promised $100 billion a year to poor countries to help them fight global warming, but said those nations broke the promise. Nakate told The Associated Press that she wasn’t attacking the former president “but that is me speaking the truth.”

“This money was promised, but it hasn’t been delivered,” she said, adding that the $100 billion a year was the “bare minimum” for climate finance.

Despite opposition within Biden’s own Democratic party that has blocked the president’s climate-fighting legislation, Obama was confident that some version of Biden’s ambitious climate bill will pass and be “historic.”

“It will set the United States on course to meet its new climate targets,” he said.

And while the rapport between U.S. and Chinese negotiators paved the way to the Paris accord, Obama on Monday criticized Chinese President Xi Jinping and Russian President Vladimir Putin for not joining other leaders at the climate talks in Glasgow.

“It was particularly discouraging to see the leaders of two of the world’s largest emitters, China and Russia, decline to even attend the proceedings, and their national plans reflect what appears to be a dangerous lack of urgency,” Obama said.

To the Vikings, the Pleiades were Freyjas hens and their name in many old European languages compares them to a hen with chicks. In some rural parts of France the star group was called la poussinere which translates to chicken coop.

Alcyone – the central principal star as mother hen. Freya the Norse goddess replaced by the Christian Mary.

The seven spotted Ladybird bug – name derived from 'Freya's hens'

There exists similarity in design of Viking Longboats and Egyptian Solar Barges. In Egyptian myths of the afterlife, Ra rides in an underground channel from west to east every night so that he can rise in the east the next morning. The cone shapes at each end of barge could represent wormholes in space and time. See videos YouTube channel 'Godgevlamste' – 'The Vikings Were Jews' and 'Empire of the False Christ'.

Viking Longboat

In 1904 a remarkable archaeological site was uncovered at Oseberg, Norway. It consisted of an astonishingly well-preserved Viking ship that contained the remains of two women along with a wide array of accompanying grave goods. This vessel, which is widely celebrated as one of the finest finds of the Viking Age, had been buried within a large mound or haugr.

Centrally placed on the ship were the skeletons of two women whose remains had been placed in a specially built wooden tent. One of the woman was in her eighties and this was reflected in the condition of her bones which showed that she had suffered badly from arthritis during her final years

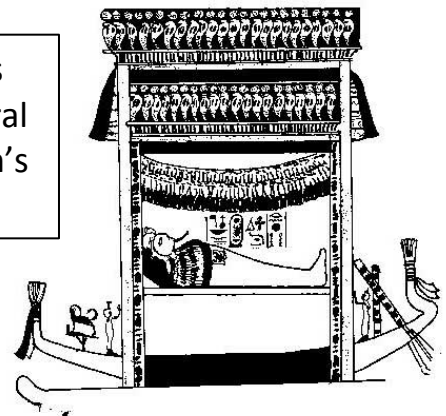

The second woman was younger and had died in her early fifties. The connection between the two women is unclear; it is possible that they were related or more sinisterly represent the remains of a noble woman interred with her sacrificed slave. Some have speculated that one of the women may be Queen Åsa, the grandmother of Norway's first king, although this remains unproven. Other skeletal remains found on the ship included 13 horses, 4 dogs and 2 oxen. It is likely that these represent animals that were sacrificed to accompany the female burials into the afterlife.

An Anglo Saxon Funeral Barge, the resting place of the 7th Century King Raedwald of East Anglia, was discovered in 1939 at Sutton Hoo, Suffolk England.

Fish scales on Egyptian resurrected god Osiris

The Osiris myth is the most elaborate and influential story in ancient Egyptian mythology. It concerns the murder of the god Osiris, a primeval king of Egypt, and its consequences. Osiris's murderer, his brother Set, usurps his throne. Meanwhile, Osiris's wife Isis restores her husband's body, allowing him to posthumously conceive their son, Horus. The remainder of the story focuses on Horus, the product of the union of Isis and Osiris, who is at first a vulnerable child protected by his mother and then becomes Set's rival for the throne. Their often violent conflict ends with Horus's triumph, which restores Maat (cosmic and social order) to Egypt after Set's unrighteous reign and completes the process of Osiris's resurrection.

9. The Printing Machine and Birth of an Age of Deceitful Rule

'American Comedian Robin Williams is dressed in carbon fibre cap and cloak, a fiery world, he is stood outside the entrance to a steel doored tunnel. The Tunnel twitches and has consciousness, Robin asks the question 'Where did we as mankind go wrong?' – The Tunnel replies 'The invention of the Printing Machine'.' – Lucid experience next to Black Madonna shrine 2005.

Knowledge is power, as the saying goes, and the invention of the mechanical movable type printing press helped disseminate knowledge wider and faster than ever before.

German goldsmith Johannes Gutenberg is credited with inventing the printing press around 1436, although he was far from the first to automate the book-printing process. Woodblock printing in China dates back to the 9th century and Korean bookmakers were printing with moveable metal type a century before Gutenberg.

But most historians believe Gutenberg's adaptation, which employed a screw-type wine press to squeeze down evenly on the inked metal type, was the key to unlocking the modern age.

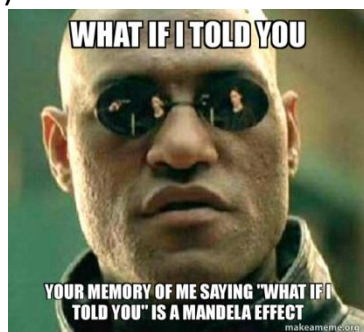

The Gutenberg press enabled church reformers, such as Martin Luther, to distribute Bibles translated from Latin into German and English – fuelling the Reformation - a major movement within Western Christianity in 16th-century Europe that posed a religious and political challenge to the Catholic Church and in particular to papal authority, arising from what were perceived to be errors, abuses, and discrepancies by the Catholic Church. The Reformation was the start of Protestantism and the split of the Western Church into Protestantism and what is now the Roman Catholic Church.

The Vatican's response to experiencing disempowerment due to large quantities of translated Bibles in circulation was to invent a new tactic that English Cardinal Thomas Wolsey (contemporary of Henry VIII) described as 'learning against learning'. A tactic of discrediting the Bible - in order to force people to return to Rome as having ultimate authority over their body and soul. Birthing 'scientism' Rome set out to weave a false reality matrix founded on publication in 1543 of Nicolaus Copernicus book 'De revolutionibus orbium coelestium' (On the Revolutions of the Celestial Spheres).

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia — A mysterious glowing orb is exerting uncanny power over the world's social media. President Trump, King Salman of Saudi Arabia and President Abdel Fattah el-Sisi of Egypt entered a darkened room filled with row after row of computers in Riyadh, the Saudi capital. The occasion was the opening of a new Global Centre for Combating Extremist Ideology, based in Riyadh, and the orb was in fact a translucent globe, with the world's waters represented in light grey and the continents in black. Its purpose appeared to be decorative.

"This ground breaking new centre represents a clear declaration that Muslim-majority countries must take the lead in combating radicalization, and I want to express our gratitude to King Salman for this strong demonstration of leadership," Mr. Trump said in his prepared remarks.

Virgin's Hyperloop One company has signed a deal with the government of Saudi Arabia to build a test track for its futuristic transport concept.

The hyperloop concept involves a pressurised pod with a vehicle carrying passengers or cargo up to 10 times faster than current rail.

A 35km track will be built, alongside a research and development facility and manufacturing plant, north of Jeddah.

Some remain sceptical that hyperloop travel can become a reality.

Virgin Hyperloop One said the technology could reduce a journey from Riyadh to Jeddah to 76 minutes, compared with more than 10 hours currently.

'Saudi Silicon Valley'

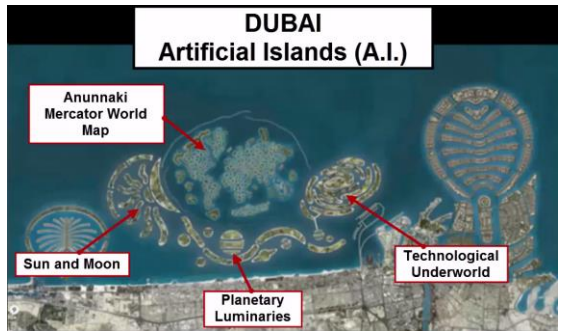

"Our partnership with Virgin Hyperloop One is a matter of pride for us and all of Saudi Arabia," said Mohanud A Helal, Secretary General of the Economic City Authority.

He added that he hoped it would be a "catalyst for a Saudi Silicon Valley effect".

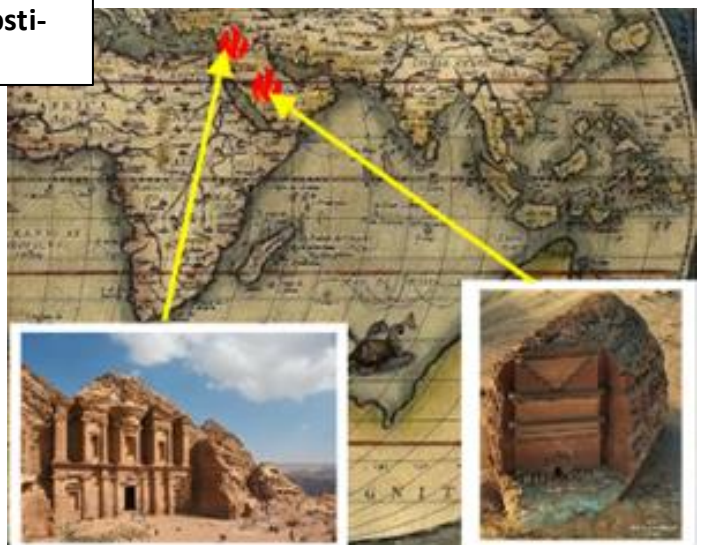

The company showed off a pod travelling at over 100km/h (62mph) in a 500m (1,600ft) vacuum tube in Nevada in July 2017.

Meanwhile, Elon Musk has been running an annual competition at his SpaceX headquarters to test the limits of the technology.

12. The Lady of the Lake, Britney Spears and Iran

The Sarmatians were a confederation of Iranian peoples who initially occupied Sarmatia, the region north of the Black Sea, but who gradually migrated westward during the Roman period. They were primarily known as cavalry warriors. In 175 AD, the emperor Marcus Aurelius stationed 5,500 Sarmatians in Britain. This unit may have remained there for generations; a 5th century Roman document mentions a 'Sarmatian formation' serving in northern Britain, although by that point it may well have been manned by men with no ethnic connection to the Sarmatians who founded the unit.

In 1975, Helmut Nickel floated a theory that perhaps Artorius led a unit of Sarmatians and somehow formed the basis for the stories of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table. In 1994, two scholars of folklore, C. Scott Littleton and Linda Malcor, proposed an entirely hypothetical reconstruction of Artorius' career, apparently independently of Nickel's ideas. They proposed that Artorius had fought against the Sarmatians during his time in eastern Europe and that because he had experience with Sarmatians, the emperor assigned him to command a unit of Sarmatians that fought a campaign around Hadrian's Wall against a group of invading Caledonians. His unit being destroyed, he then returned to Eboracum and was subsequently sent with a cavalry unit to Armorica.

The Ark of the Covenant and Holy Grail passing through the hands of the Sarmatians on a journey into Tartaria.....

The primary evidence Littleton and Malcor offer in support of this hypothesis is that certain elements of the late medieval Arthurian legend have parallels in legends that derive from the Caucasus region, not far to the east of Sarmatia. These 'Nart Sagas' are of uncertain dating, being only recorded in the 19th century AD, although elements of them seem to go a long way back into the Ancient period. The most interesting parallels include

- A Nart warrior's sword must be thrown into the sea when he dies. One particular character asks a friend to undertake this task for him, but the friend twice lies about doing it before finally throwing it into the sea. This same scenario occurs in Thomas Malory's 15th century description of the death of Arthur at the battle of Camelot, in which Bedivere is ordered to throw Excalibur into a lake.
- Two Nart heroes collect the beards of their foes to make into cloaks. Different versions of the Arthurian legends describe him fighting an enemy who does the same thing.
- The Cup of the Narts appears at feasts and grants each person what they most like to eat. It can only be touched by a warrior without a flaw. The Holy Grail does this when it appears at Camelot. It is finally attained by the pure Sir Galahad.
- A magical woman dressed in white and associated with water appears both in the Nart Sagas and in Arthurian legend (where she is called the Lady of the Lake).
- The Sarmatians are closely related to the Alans. Various names containing 'alan' occur in various Arthurian stories, including Alain le Gros, Elaine, and most importantly Lancelot, which according to Littleton and Malcor could be a corruption of Alanas a Lot ("Alan of Lot River").
- The Sarmatians were noted cavalry warriors, and so too were Arthur's knights.

So here essentially is the Sarmatian Theory. Artorius led a group of Sarmatians in northern Britain briefly. At some point after his death, he was fused with various Sarmatian heroes and acquired a collection of stories and characters around him that ultimately evolved into the character of King Arthur. And that's basically what King Arthur claims is the historical truth behind Arthur.
